

Goal of the Mobility

The initiative addresses the challenges of migrant youth inclusion through dialogue, collaboration, and shared sports and arts activities. Its main goal is to strengthen youth workers' competences in navigating multicultural environments by involving both local and migrant youth in inclusive shared activities.

Objectives of the Mobility

1. Develop youth workers' competences in promoting inclusion and intercultural dialogue.
2. Provide practical tools using sports, arts, and non-formal education methods for inclusion.
3. Strengthen teamwork, leadership, and facilitation skills in multicultural groups.
4. Improve communication and conflict-resolution skills when working with diverse youth groups.
5. Encourage the exchange of good practices and future international cooperation initiatives.

(Local Activities)

Portugal

Tunisia

Two participants from Portugal organised a local follow-up activity at the University of Minho, engaging young people in a discussion about the meaning of inclusion. Participants were encouraged to reflect on what inclusion meant to them, share their perspectives, and exchange ideas. As part of the activity, each participant was invited to write down one word that best represented inclusion from their personal point of view.

Participants from Tunisia organised a local activity at their university, inspired by the Training Course in Malta. Each participant coloured one of four pieces of a drawing and then worked with others to complete the picture. The activity encouraged teamwork, communication, and inclusion while sharing the spirit and values of the Erasmus+ project with their local community.

Moldova

We organised an activity to promote Erasmus+ opportunities and the project results among young people in our local community. We shared information about international mobility, youth exchanges, training courses, and intercultural learning. We also organised a creative drawing activity where participants decorated individual pieces of a shared picture, which were then brought together to symbolise teamwork, inclusion, and building connections.
